RDG 390 READING & THINKING THROUGH THE LANGUAGE PROCESSES

RDG 370/380/390 are required courses for the Elementary Certification Reading/Language Arts programs.

RDG 380 will be taught on campus.

ENHANCING THE FUTURE THROUGH EDUCATOR PREPARATION: Through programs dedicated to collaboration in instruction, field experience, and research, the candidates in Sam Houston State University's Educator Preparation Programs acquire the knowledge, dispositions, and skills necessary to create a positive learning environment. Employing a variety of technologies, these candidates learn to plan, implement, assess, and modify instruction to meet the needs of our communities' diverse learners. Course Description: This course is designed to help candidates become informed, reflective decision makers who can translate the understanding of balancing the writing process and writing products into appropriate instructional decisions for children. At the conclusion of this course pre-service teachers will be able to:

- 1. discuss the degree and probable causes of children's difficulty with classroom writing processes, and
- 2. use a range of assessment techniques to determine students' writing strengths and needs, and
- 3. communicate student strengths and needs with colleagues and parents, and
- 4. identify, select, and implement instructional strategies appropriate for meeting students' assessed needs.

Standards Matrix: The objectives of this course correspond with the Conceptual Framework model developed for the Educator Preparation Program at Sam Houston State University.

Course Format: The course format includes in-class activities, mini-lessons taught by candidates, readings from textbooks, and class/group discussions, and professional reading in organizational journals.

Course Content:

RDG 390-The focus is on the developmental stages of writing and the interrelated language processes of listening, speaking, reading, and writing.

Course Requirements:

- 1. Reading Assignments: Candidates (in groups) will be assigned chapters (or parts of chapters) of the text to read and discuss in class. (No points)
- 2. Writing Process Project: Candidates will guide a child through the writing process. Students will produce a published book that will be bound and kept by the students. A writing process lesson plan form will be used to plan the lessons. A copy of these plans will be submitted to the instructor each week for 10 weeks. Each time the candidate works with the student, a completed lesson plan must be in evidence. These plans will be collected and assessed for completeness and appropriateness. BE PREPARED. If a lesson plan is not in evidence, the candidate will not be allowed to work with the students on that day and will receive a zero for that assignment. Two of the 10 lesson plans will be graded. 2 @ 60 ea. = 120 points
- 3. Writing lesson plans: Candidates will complete 10 lesson plans; one for each session with students. 50 points
- 4. Multi-Genre Assignment: Candidates will interview a class member on the first day of class. Information gained during this interview will be used to introduce your partner to the class. You will present this information in a creative way using the format of: a newspaper article, a wanted poster, a book jacket, a brochure, an obituary, etc. You must turn in both your information notes with evidence of how you organized them AND your "creative" presentation for a grade. 30 points
- 5. "My Name is. . ." project: You will write a research paper on the origin of your name. Include: where/who your name came from, how you got your nickname (if you have one) and what you would change your name to if you were to have to change it. 30 points
- 6. Snapshot project: You will complete the writing process yourself as you write a paper about an early literacy experience. (More information in class.) 40 points

- 7. One paper of your choosing: We will write many papers in class that will not be taken through the entire writing process. You may choose from among those for one additional paper to be submitted for a grade. 30 points
- 8. Letter of introduction: You will have a family member (parent, brother/sister, aunt, uncle, etc.) write me a letter that introduces you to me and explains why this person thinks you will be a good teacher. 10 points

Expectations:

Attendance: Regular and punctual attendance is required. This is a "hands-on" course in which many of the instructional techniques are demonstrated in class and are debriefed in large and small group discussions. Attendance also demonstrates a level of responsibility and commitment that future employers like to see. It is not a good idea to miss any class. A student may have six (3) hours of absence. Attendance is strictly required for any class period spent working with the students in the school setting. Attendance will be taken each day of class. Tardies will be handled through the professionalism points.

Assignment due dates: It is expected that candidates will turn in assignments on time. Late assignments will not be accepted without prior arrangements with the course instructor. Professionalism points will be deducted for late work.

Americans with Disabilities Act:

SHSU adheres to all applicable federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and guidelines with respect to providing reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. If you have a disability that may affect adversely your work in this class, then I encourage you to register with the SHSU Counseling Center and to talk with me about how I can best help you. All disclosures of disabilities will be kept strictly confidential. NOTE: no accommodation can be made until you register with the Counseling Center.

Student Absences on Religious Holy Days Policy:

Section 51.911 (b) of the Texas Education Code requires that an institution of higher education excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. A student whose absence is excused under this subsection may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused within a reasonable time after the absence.

University policy 861001 provides the procedures to be followed by the student and instructor. A student desiring to absent him/herself from a scheduled class in order to observe (a) religious holy day(s) shall present to each instructor involved a written statement concerning the religious holy day(s). This request must be made in the first fifteen days of the semester or the first seven days of a summer session in which the absence(s) will occur. The instructor will complete a form notifying the student of a reasonable timeframe in which the missed assignments and/or examinations are to be completed.
