Course Description: This is an introductory course giving a general overview of the land and people. The topics discussed will include the physical environment, cultural characteristics, and the various ways people live and make their living. Attention will be focused on the relationships that exist between the location, the physical environment, and human activity. Examples of countries covered include Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Egypt, Republic of South Africa, Israel, Iran and India. This is a writing enhanced course.

Objectives: This course is intended to a) introduce geographic concepts that will be applied in a regional context (i.e. learning to apply course material), b) improve geographic literacy for each of the major world regions discussed (i.e. gaining factual knowledge), and c) articulate ideas about conditions in these regions.

Methods of Instruction: This course is structured as a combination of lectures, participatory activities and discussions, and writing exercises in order to achieve the objectives stated above.

Textbook: Essentials of World Regional Geography, 5th Edition, by Joseph J. Hobbs and Christopher L. Salter, published by Thomson Brooks/Core, 2006.

Attendance: The University requires each instructor to keep a record of student attendance. Attendance will be taken in the form of participation in in-class activities. Failure to attend class will have a negative impact on your final grade. In addition, students are responsible for all lecture notes, assignments, schedule changes, and any other information covered in class.

Grading: Final grades will be based on a total of 360 points. 300 points will come from 5 tests over the course of the semester made up of multiple choice, true/false and matching questions which will require a Scantron 882-E, as well as a map question. 50 points will come from attendance/participation in in-class activities and writing exercises. 10 points will come from one current events assignment (instructions TBA). Letter grades will be assigned on the following scale: A = 90%, B = 80%, C = 70%, D = 60%, F = less than 60%.

Missed Work: If a student knows ahead of time that s/he will miss an assignment or a test, it must be completed prior to the missed class. In the case of extreme and unavoidable circumstances, the student must contact me immediately, provide me with appropriate documentation, and make up the assignment prior to the next class meeting.

Academic Conduct: All students are expected to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action. The University and its official representatives may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including, but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work which is to be submitted, plagiarism, collusion and the abuse of resource materials.

Course Behavior: Students will refrain from behavior in the classroom that intentionally or unintentionally disrupts the learning process and, thus, impedes the mission of the university. Cellular telephones and pagers must be turned off before class begins. Students are prohibited from eating or drinking in class, using tobacco products, making offensive remarks, reading newspapers, sleeping, talking at inappropriate times, wearing inappropriate clothing, or engaging in any other form of distraction. Inappropriate behavior in the classroom shall result in a directive to leave class. Students who are especially disruptive also may be reported to the Dean of Students for disciplinary action in accordance with university policy.

Visitors in the Classroom: Unannounced visitors to class must present a current, official SHSU identification card to be permitted in the classroom. They must not present a disruption to the class by their attendance. If the visitor is not a registered student, it is at the instructor's discretion whether or not the visitor will be allowed to remain in the classroom.

Americans with Disabilities Act: SHSU adheres to all applicable federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and guidelines with respect to providing reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. If you have a disability that may affect adversely your work in this class, then I encourage you to register with the SHSU Counseling Center and talk with me about how I can best help you. All disclosures of disabilities will be kept strictly confidential. Note: no accommodation can be made until you register with the Counseling Center. Therefore, any student seeking accommodations should go to the Counseling Center and Services for Students with Disabilities in a timely manner and complete a form that will grant permission to receive special accommodations.

Religious Holy Days: If a student desires to be excused from class, assignments, or a test to participate in activities associated with a religious holy day, then the student must notify me of each scheduled class that s/he will miss for religious reasons. In such cases, the student will be required to take the test or submit the assignment early—unless there are good reasons for not being able to and I have agreed to those reasons.

Special Circumstances: If unusual circumstances arise during the semester, such as a medical problem, death in the family, etc., that adversely affects your attendance, please discuss this with me immediately and provide the appropriate documentation. Under these conditions, I will do my best to accommodate your situation. However, there is nothing I can do if you wait until after the fact, at the end of the semester, to let me know that you were experiencing adverse circumstances.
