

Leigh A. Elizondo
Adjunct Professor
Language, Literacy and Special Populations
Sam Houston State University

Degrees Earned

Ph.D., Major in Special Education, Minor in Criminal Justice, University of North Texas, December, 1998

MED, Emotional Disturbance/Autism, University of North Texas, August 1989

BS, Physical Education, Minor in Psychology, Texas Women's University, August 1988

Professional Licensure and Certifications

Texas Teaching Certificate, All Level Physical Education

Texas Teaching Certificate, Special Education

Texas Teaching Certificate, Emotional Disturbance and Autism

Mid-Management for Administration

Texas Teacher Appraisal System, Evaluator

Professional Development Appraisal System, Evaluator

Life Space Crisis Intervention, Trainer

True Colors, Trainer

4MAT Learning Preferences, Trainer

Nonviolent Crisis Intervention, Master Trainer and Advanced Trainer

Texas Behavior Support Initiative, Trainer

Work or Professional Experiences

1996- Present, Coordinator in Special Education, Cypress-Fairbanks ISD, Houston, Texas

2001, 2004, 2006-2007 Adjunct Faculty in Special Education, Sam Houston State University

1996 – Present, Adjunct Faculty in Special Education, University of Houston-Clear Lake

1995, Adjunct Faculty in Special Education, University of Houston-Cinco Ranch

1992-1996, Educational Specialist, Region IV Education Service Center, Houston, TX

1989-1992, Graduate Assistant, University of North Texas, Denton, TX

1991, Doctoral Studies Intern, Office of Special Education Programs, Division of Personnel Preparation, Washington, D.C.