COURSE DESCRIPTION (Catalog)

Course content centers upon a rationale for instruction of students with mild to moderate special needs and presents a variety of methods, materials, and instructional strategies for students with mild to moderate disabilities.

COURSE QUESTIONS:

1. What are the main educational needs of students with high incidence disabilities?
2. What educational methods and practices are regarded as “research-based” and “student-centered”?
3. Which conceptual model of learning works for me? Am I eclectic?
4. How do I link assessment with instruction?
5. How do I build positive, supportive learning environments for struggling learners?
6. What is the mission and vision of special educational programs and how well is it being realized?
7. What instructional practices will lead to learner growth and achievement in language, literacy, mathematics, and content areas?
8. How can students with mild and moderate disabilities become more metacognitively aware, strategic, active, and successful?
9. How can students with mild to moderate disabilities be equipped for successfully meeting the demands of adult, post-secondary life?
10. What methods and educational strategies will enrich my instruction for all students?

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

Course objectives are aligned with state and national standards in the following table. State standards are taken from the State Board for Educator Certification (SBEC) - Twelve Knowledge and Skill Standards - for Special Education and are the basis for the ExCET/TEXES Certification Examination (www.sbec.state.tx.us). For National Standards, The Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) provides the following : “ CEC Knowledge and Skill Base for All Beginning Special Education Teachers of Students in Individualized General Curriculums”( www.cec.sped.org).

POLICY for Students with Disabilities

It is the policy of Sam Houston State University that no otherwise qualified disabled individual shall, solely by reason of his/her handicap, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any academic or Student Life program or activity. Disabled students may request help with academically related problems stemming from individual disabilities from their instructors, school/department chair, or by contacting the Chair of the Committee for Continuing Assistance for Disabled Students and Director of the Counseling Center, Lee Drain Annex, or by calling (936) 294-1720.

STUDENT ABSENCES ON RELIGIOUS HOLY DAYS POLICY:

Section 51.911(b) of the Texas Education Code requires that an institution of higher education excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. A student whose absence is excused under this subsection may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused within a reasonable time after the absence.

University policy 861001 provides the procedures to be followed by the student and instructor. A student desiring to absent himself/herself from a scheduled class in order to observe (a) religious holy day(s) shall present to each instructor involved a written statement concerning the religious holy day(s). This request must be made in the first fifteen days of the semester or the first seven days of a summer session in which the absence(s) will occur. The instructor will complete a form notifying the student of a reasonable timeframe in which the missed assignments and/or examinations are to be complete.

EVALUATION:

TK 20

The College uses the CampusTools HigherEd Assessment and Management System to conduct systematic teaching and assessments for all students in the college (Education) . Every student is required to purchase an account for use of this system from Tk20. Each student account costs only $100, plus tax and includes access to the system for seven years. This is a ONE-TIME charge.

To purchase your account, click on the link "Click here to purchase your student account" on the login page of the CampusTools HigherEd System, found at <https://tk20.shsu.edu/campustoolshighered/>

(1) Mid-term exam (130 Points)

Exam # 2 (130 Points)

Exams are a mix of short answer and objective type items.

(2) Small Group Oral report on topic from reading lists or other sources. For our size class, two's or three's are probably workable but we can have some individual reports also. Reports will be presented in class (15-20 minutes) with emphasis on instructional implications. If the reading describes a specific instructional technique or method (as most of them will), consider using a demonstration, modeling, or role-play. In any case, strive for zest and clarity. Topics can be broad (e.g., "Reading Comprehension Strategies") or more specific (e.g., "Methods for Teaching Fractions"). You should provide a one-two page summary of the articles describing the main points and synthesizing the specific instructional applications and implications. Readings will be given out during the first few class meetings. A scoring rubric is provided...use the criteria to plan and self-assess. (70 Points)

(3) Class attendance and participation (40 Points). Three hours of class (1 class meeting) are allowed by University Policy. Each absence following the three hours will result in an 10 point reduction. More than two absences should be worked out individually with the course instructor. Participation will be judged informally by the instructor.

(4) Individual Project (70 Points)

Case Study/Portfolio Assignment. Begin to construct a case study of performance by a student with mild/moderate disabilities (preferably), a low achieving student, at-risk student, etc. (If you don't have access to real students, we can look at alternatives or hypothetical people.) Accumulate a folder of information -- this might include work samples, homework, informal conference logs, tests, notes or outlines constructed by the student, anecdotes about classroom behavior, interviews with teachers or parents, running records of work completed -- or any of a number of sources.

The outcome of this activity is to demonstrate knowledge of evidence-based practices in assessing a student's educational needs and providing instruction and educational services deigned to meet these needs. Course handouts and readings will seek to clarify some of the permutations which might be possible. Consider strongly the inclusion of an Informal Reading Inventory (such as the Flynt – Cooter). We will discuss these in class and each of us will engage in ongoing dialogues about how the experience is working. Be sure to respect confidentiality - white out names, get permissions, etc. We will use these to think about informal evaluation and goal-setting. Refer to handouts and class information on the philosophy and construction of portfolios.

Some samples of case studies from previous classes will be presented. Also, early in the course, everyone will read an article (Some of these are on the reading lists) - informal assessment methods, authentic assessment, portfolio construction, classroom-based research...We'll share these in class such that we learn together both the philosophy and logistics of individual, ongoing, multiple domain-based assessment. Post your 2 -3 page summary on TK20 if you are part of the Diagnostician or Master's Program in special Education. Due on 11/20/07.

(5) Responses to Weekly Discussion Board Topics/Exercises.

The Discussion Board Feature of Blackboard allows us to explore some of the course topics and principles in greater depth. A topical FORUM - a question, a situation, a student profile, a dilemma for educators, a query, etc. – will be posted for you to respond to. I have some ideas for this but welcome your input and suggestions regarding the mission of meeting the educational needs of diverse learners. These will not be synchronous discussions such that you can log on when you see fit. Still, participation will be expected from each class member. As the threads are responded to, you may want to react to different individuals and go back a second or third time. My hope is that this medium will allow us to learn as a classroom community. Since we are a mix of special education and school psychology folks, it should be interesting to get a cross-disciplinary spin as we progress. (60 Points).

GRADE SCALE

450 - 500 Points = A

410 - 449 Points = B

360 - 409 Points = C

Below 360 = F
