Course Description:

The class will explore an intensive focus on clay as a material, with an emphasis on individual interpretation. Students should have a solid understanding of both historical and technical aspects of the material (including the prerequisite and special permission from the instructor). The course will be run in a manner that enables each individual to work within the concentration that best suits his/her work. Each student will be required to write a proposal outlining the intentions for the work during the course. The course will involve readings, writings and discussions surrounding contemporary clay work.

Course Objectives:

To develop a solid body of visual work, supported by both an oral and written defense. To continue to gain factual knowledge, learn fundamental principles concerning clay, and apply it to the material in this course.

Tools and Supplies:

Tool Kit	Bucket
Misc. tools (stick, fork, etc.)	Towel
Work clothes	Plastic
Sketchbook	CLAY

Attendance Policy:

It is REQUIRED that you be in class. This course can only be successful if the individuals put in the required time. Arriving late to class, as well as absences, will cause grades to drop. After two absences, each additional will drop you one letter grade. Every tardy will also count against you (two will equal one absence). Leaving prior to the end of class will also be taken into consideration with attendance. Those people that miss lectures/demos will have to find the information from fellow students or other sources. Coming late disrupts the class and infringes on other student's ability to learn (see student handbook for grading policy involving absences). As a studio based course, it is essential to make use of the allotted class time. Access to faculty should be utilized during class period. It is certain that additional time out of class will be necessary to complete assignments.

Assignments:

Due to the nature of the course, each student will essentially create his/her own assignments through written proposals (approval of the instructor is mandatory). There will also be a series of readings coming from the required text that will be followed by group discussion.

Exams:

Due to the nature of a studio course, there will not be standardized academic exams.

Grading Plan:

The biggest factor in grading will deal with the student's level of involvement in the class. This includes everything from attendance, to finishing assignments on time, to participating in class discussions. Each individual will be graded heavily on his/her own progression through the course. All assignments will be graded during class critiques.

Critique-75%

This involves the technical, aesthetic and conceptual strengths of the work.

Participation/Attendance-25%

Your physical presence, as well as your verbal contributions to the class setting, is heavily considered.

*Grades are open to discussion prior to the end of the course. At that time, all grades are final.

Academic Dishonesty:

Cheating and plagiarism are not acceptable. Assignments suspected of plagiarism will be taken before the university. Confirmation of such will result in a grade of an "F". The university approaches this as follows: All students are expected to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action. The University and its official representatives may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including, but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work which is to be submitted, plagiarism, collusion and the abuse of resource materials.

Classroom Rules of Conduct:

Students will refrain from behavior in the classroom that intentionally or unintentionally disrupts the learning process and, thus, impedes the mission of the university. Cellular telephones and pagers must be turned off before class begins. Students are prohibited from eating in class, using tobacco products, making offensive remarks, reading newspapers, sleeping, talking at inappropriate times, wearing inappropriate clothing, or engaging in any other form of distraction. Inappropriate behavior in the classroom shall result in a directive to leave the class. Students who are especially disruptive also may be reported to the Dean of Students for disciplinary action in accordance with the university policy.

Visitors in the Classroom:

Unannounced visitors to class must present a current, official SHSU identification card to be permitted in the classroom. They must not present a disruption to the class by their attendance. If the visitor is not a registered student, it is at the instructor's discretion whether or not the visitor will be allowed to remain in the classroom.

Americans with Disabilities Act:

It is the policy of Sam Houston State University that no otherwise qualified disabled individual shall, solely by reason of his/her handicap, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any academic or Student Life program or activity. Disabled students may request assistance with academically related problems stemming from individual disabilities by contacting the Director of the Counseling Center in the Lee Drain Annex or by calling (936) 294-1720.

Religious Holidays:

Students having a conflict with religious holidays must give written notice at the end of the first class meeting.

Sketchbooks:

Sketchbooks should be an ongoing marker/reference to individual ideas and thoughts about projects/assignments. They should include written information (notes) as well as visual imagery. The verbal translation of art is often the crucial factor in determining the intentions of the work. Entries should be done on a daily basis. These are not public information and will be kept confidential.

Gallery Visits:

Each student will be required to visit two exhibitions throughout the duration of the course. The dates will be somewhat flexible, but the visits are not optional. Students will then be responsible for writing a one-page review of the exhibition.

Sophomore Gate:

Upon completion of the 6 foundation art classes (Art 161: Basic Design I, Art 163: Drawing, Art 164: Life Drawing I, Art 265: Basic Design II, Art 271: 3D Design, Art 260: Pre-Renaissance Art History), students are required to meet with Pat Lawler, the art advisor, to declare a degree program (BA/BFA) or they will be blocked from registering for upper division art classes.

Students choosing the BA program will be unblocked and continue on with their course work. Students who would like to be in the BFA program will need to apply for it. This application involves filling out paperwork, having a 3.0 GPA, and signing up for a portfolio review upon completion of the first course in their intended concentration. Reviews will be conducted each semester by Art Department faculty. Students passing the review will be invited into the BFA program. Those who do not pass will continue on in the BA program. Students interested in reapplying for the BFA program should meet with faculty to discuss what improvements are necessary before applying for a second review.
