

Correspondence Courses

Follow Your Passions. Design Your Education.

Morning person? Night owl? Working professional? With Correspondence Courses at Sam Houston State University, you can now earn college credit in the way that's perfect for you. Students in correspondence courses enjoy the benefits of the challenging and respected SHSU education without the obligations of organized classes. Instead, you'll be empowered to make decisions about how quickly you'll move through course materials and when you'll submit your assignments - it's just like designing your own course!

Correspondence course assignments and exams are developed by SHSU faculty members, so students can be confident that their education will meet the highest standards of other institutions, as well as present and future employers. All coursework is turned in via traditional mail or e-mail, enabling you to complete your studies from anywhere in the world.
